

Brian Scott Penn

June 17, 1966 - December 27, 2016

Brian Scott Penn, 50, passed away December 27, 2016.

Brian was born in Kermit, Tx, on June 17th, 1966, at 7:54 A.M. His mother fell in love with him instantly and noticed the dimple in his chin which she adored. At an early age, he spoke clearly and was an eager learner, earning exceptional grades in school. His artistry surfaced when he started to copy cartoons around the age of five and continued to advance well into his adult years. After turning thirteen, he started to lead Bible studies with his cousins.

Brian Penn was loved by all who knew him. He was a talented artist, a skilled guitarist, and a beloved son, a loving father, and a protective big brother. He was also an excellent employee as a Graphic Art Specialist at 4 Color Press in Fort Worth.

He had a wonderful sense of humor even when he wasn't trying and cherished time with family; he loved coffee, dogs, martial arts, and rock music, his favorites being Elvis, KISS and Led Zeppelin. His enthusiasm in his interests was infectious, often creating interest in others as well.

He was thankful for his loyal friends, Kenny and Devin. He credited Kenny as his mentor in teaching him computer skills, and enjoyed camping with Devin.

Brian was preceded in death by his papa and nanny, whom he treasured, always believing them to be the best grandparents anybody could have.

He is survived by his mother and her husband whom he viewed as a father, Sharon and Floyd Mason, his father, Kelsey Richardson along with his wife, Barbara, his sons, Jerry and Kris Penn and his wife, Shana, his sister, Jackie Horn, his nephew, Nicholas Horn, his nieces, Jessie and Tessa Horn, his aunt Marsha Frederick, whom he lovingly called Barsha and Horse as a toddler, his uncles Jerry and Ellwood Hays along with his wife, Dorothy, his cousins, Keith Hays, Sam Belanger, Jeannette Hays, and Victoria and Esther Frederick.

Brian, we will always remember you with the warmest of thoughts. You hold a special place in our hearts and the love we have for you will continue to live on.

“ When times like this come about we are at a lost for words. Brian was a great man, son, father and Brother! He was a person we all should be. He knew who he was, what he liked and the mistakes he had made. He was never ashamed to admit mistakes and was always trying to rectify his faults. At times people get to carried away with their own issues, but Brian was always available to listen and share opinions and walk it through. I will always remember my brother and I will never forget our experiences together. His light will always burn bright and guide me with my future endeavors. I love you always and forever my brother and it is time for you to rest.

“ This is the last conversation my cousins and I had with Brian. A beautiful stroll down Memory Lane, full of love and laughter.

JEANNETTE: Happy, Happier, Happiest birthday to my Double Cuz, Sam! Best double cousin EVER!

When we were kids, Keith and I would argue over who got to spend more time with you... playing Legos, running around in the 100+ heat with no AC in Nanny's home... Making funny voices through the many fans...

Sammy, laughing and running around a parked car while Marsha chased you. You and I climbing the Mimosa trees.

I love ya BIGLY!

SAMMY: Love this. And I love these memories Jeannette :) And I love you.

JEANNETTE: Papa's lazy chair. Horse rides on his knee. Cornbread with milk and sugar. Iced tea. Plucking out painful stickers. The naked lady statue with oil dripping down the lines.

SAMMY: That orange, spin-ny, rocking chair. I loved that thing. And Nanny got so mad when we plucked the strings as the oil seeped down. We got it all over the wall. Haha. But yes, she was certainly a naked statue. And yes, to this day I still love cornbread and milk, but I don't remember putting sugar in it, and don't do it now. Interesting. Maybe I'm missing out....

BRIAN: I'll never forget how Sammy would hide under the kitchen table and pretend to be a mouse running across Nanny's leg just to scare her and make that howling sound! LOL!!!

SAMMY: Man, I was just thinking about that the other day. She would whoop and holler. It almost seemed like she was being silly back at us, because it kinda sounded fake. I miss her.

BRIAN: She was the BEST EVER! There will only ever be one Nanny!

SAMMY: Very very true. And I'm sure she looks down on us now and again. I want her to be proud of me, as I'm sure all of us do. What a reunion it will be one day!

SAMMY: What awesome memories between us cousins.... Where's Jackie? And Keith?

KEITH: I remember Papa's rolled down socks and him playing the french harp. I used to ask about and want to touch the 'squares' on his neck....also when he'd come home on payday with cash when we were visiting. He'd start laying money down on the kitchen table in front of him and me. He'd say "one for you and one for me, one for you and two for me, one for you and three for me, etc..." until I'd say hey! , then he'd pick it all up and laugh! then he'd have some cornbread and milk.

BRIAN: I would wait until he would get in his "easy chair" for some quick "shut eye" and grab his socks and pull them up! LOL, he would pretend to get so mad!

SAMMY: Man, I don't remember his socks....

BRIAN: Indeed! And not to forget having bible studies in the clubhouse with that awful hot tin roof in the blazing hot Texas summer!

SAMMY: Wow, I remember that clubhouse too! AND the bible studies as well!

BRIAN: And you getting stung with that gigantic red wasp and your first line of defense was to wipe it off on me so it got both of us! Thanks again Cuz!

SAMMY: Hahaha, I remember getting stung, but I don't remember getting YOU stung too! That's awesome! hahaha

BRIAN: Happy Birthday Sammy! You were always more like a little brother than a cousin! I've always been very proud of you!

SAMMY: Thanks :) You were always like an older brother to me as well. I love you and miss you tons.

BRIAN: Hit me up the next time you're in town, all us grandkids should get together for old times sake!

SAMMY: That sounds like an AWESOME idea. Can't wait.

JACKIE: I remember plucking the strings and getting oil on the wall. Nanny was so mad.

SAMMY: But it was so fun though!

JACKIE: I also remember u and me tearing down the club house with a ax. Brian flipped out. We ran. Lol

SAMMY: Yeah, and I'm pretty sure you spear-headed that one!

JACKIE: Nah. Not me. Lol

SAMMY: I was the victim, Jeff McKinley (Brian)!!

JACKIE: Willing participant

SAMMY: Hahaha

“ the thing I remember most about my cousin Brian is the hugs he would give. They were always so enthusiastic and genuine and strong. He always made me feel loved and I loved him. I will miss him and I regret I hadn't seen him more in recent years.
